Purpose

The primary purpose of the TRIO programs is to prepare disadvantaged students for successful completion of postsecondary education. In general, TRIO programs provide low-income and first-generation college students with academic tools, college readiness and support, and general assistance to successfully enter into and complete educational opportunities. TRIO services are designed to improve academic performance, increase student motivation, and facilitate transitions from one level of education to the next.

TRIO

History

In the late 1960's, three programs were established and the name "TRIO" was coined. Upward Bound, the oldest of the programs, was created by the 1964 Economic Opportunity Act; Upward Bound Math-Science was added in 1990. Educational Talent Search, the second TRIO program, was established by the Higher Education Act of 1965. In 1968 the Higher Education Amendments added the third program—Special Services for Disadvantaged Students (now Student Support Services).

The Higher Education Amendments of 1972 added a fourth program, Educational Opportunity Centers, but the "TRIO" name continued.

The fifth program, Veterans Upward Bound, was authorized under the Second Supplement Appropriate Act of 1972, followed by the Training Program for Special Programs Staff and Leadership Personnel, established by the Education Amendment of 1976.

The Higher Education Amendments of 1986 authorized the sixth program, Ronald E. McNair Post-Baccalaureate Achievement, for which funds were first appropriated in FY 1989.

Finally, the Higher Education Amendments of 1998 authorized a new program, the TRIO Dissemination Partnership Program. The Legislative requirements for the TRIO programs can be found in the Higher Education Act of 1965, as amended, Title IV, Subpart 4.

Student Support Services

The Student Support Services (SSS) Program provides services to disadvantaged college students to enhance their potential for successfully completing the education program in which they are enrolled and to facilitate their transition to the next level of higher education.
